Not illustrated. 1830 Excerpt: ...tower 130 feet in height the angle subtended by a line joining two objects A and B on the plane below was found by the sextant to be $64^{\circ} 10'$; the depression of the object A was $6^{\circ} 20'$, and that of B, $8^{\circ} 46'$; required the distance of each object from the bottom of the tower; also the bearing of the object B from it, supposing A to lie S.E. by S..gE., and B to be situated between south and west?--Ans. Distance of A, 1171.28 feet. Distance of B, 842.99 feet. Bearing of B from the tower S. $250^{\circ} 22' 54''$ W., or S.S.W.W. nearly. 34. From an elevated station A the depression of a distant object B was observed to be $1^{\circ} 6'$, and the elevation of another object C, $1^{\circ} 36'$; also the angle subtended by the straight line BC, $97^{\circ} 36'$; required the corresponding horizontal angle?--Ans. $97^{\circ} 34' 30''$. 35. The distance between two stations B and C, on a declivity, is 220 yards. At B the oblique angle ABC between C and an object A on the top of the hill was found by a sextant to be $77^{\circ} 8'$, and at C the angle ACB between B and A $62^{\circ} 18'$; also at C the elevation of the station B was found to be $8^{\circ} 32'$, and that of the object A $32^{\circ} 12'$; required the horizontal distances of the object from the stations, and its height above each of them?--Ans. Distance from C, 279.1 yards. Height above it, 175.7 yards. Distance from B, 263.1 yards. Height above it, 143.1 yards. 36. From a station on the surface of the earth the apparent elevation of the summit of a mountain was observed to be $2^{\circ} 7'$; and, again, from the summit of the mountain the apparent depression of the station was found to be $2^{\circ} 24' 10''$; also the arch intercepted on a great circle of the earth, between the station and the point immediately under the summit, had
